As we approach the end of the Fall semester, the Employer and Alumni Relations team has been busy meeting with companies that specialize in Advertising, Marketing, PR, Media, Journalism, Entertainment and more around internship and full time positions that they’ll be posting for Columbia students in the next few months. A few examples are below!

- What does it take to get a job in the fast-paced industries of Advertising, Marketing and PR? Hear from and connect with alumni and representatives from Time Inc., Horizon Media, Weber Shandwick, CBS Local Digital Media and more! Join us on Thursday, Dec. 1 from 6-7:30p.m. for our Industry Showcase: Advertising, Marketing & PR in partnership with Columbia Women’s Business Society.

- Interested in hearing about the Media industry? Syndhia and Kate from the Employer Relations team also recently spoke with Conde Nast (brands include: GQ, Vogue, Wired, and Reddit – just to name a few!) about their diverse upcoming full time roles. One interesting fact we learned is that Conde Nast doesn't offer internship opportunities, just entry level positions. This spring they will be hiring graduating undergraduates and masters students across many backgrounds for departments such as: editorial, sales, art, PR, and photo. They are also open to sponsorship on a case-by-case basis. Definitely keep an eye out for openings in LionSHARE – they post as opportunities become available, rather than on a set timeline.

- Wondered what it’s like to work with properties like MTV, Nickelodeon, Comedy Central, Spike, BET and Paramount? Gabby from the Employer relations team recently met with Viacom, one of the world’s leaders in entertainment, whose recruiting team is searching for top-tier, tech-savvy talent – those born to tweet and driven to develop! Viacom seeks qualified applicants to apply for their paid internship and entry-level trainee programs. They are currently targeting Master’s level students who are coming from a computer science and computer & electrical engineering backgrounds, offering viable career paths within Product, Technology, and UX/UI.
